LOCAL FOODS, LOCAL PLACES WORKSHOP

You Are Invited!

WHO: Local food network stakeholders, local community members, non-profit representatives, public health professionals, business owners, city and county staff, and federal and state agency staff.

WHAT: Facilitated sessions to identify local foods and local place-making initiatives in Biddeford. The community meeting will include interactive discussions about opportunities to use local food initiatives to strengthen downtown Main Street, foster economic development, and promote better public health outcomes. The second day action planning sessions will highlight case studies, best practices and focus on creating a community action plan with specific implementation steps. Participants are welcome to attend both days or any part of either day. There is no charge to participate in these events.

WHY: Local community leaders applied for technical assistance to participate in the Local Foods, Local Places program. Your knowledge of the local area, agriculture and food related topics, community development, and health and wellness is needed to help inform action and make this event a success.

BACKGROUND: This is a federal initiative to provide free technical assistance to communities interested in developing local food systems in support of goals mutually shared with the community.

RSVP: Please RSVP via Eventbrite (<http://bit.ly/LFLPBiddeford>) or to Tammy Ackerman, Engine Executive Director, 207-370-9130
